Clinical Negligence Services

We act for individuals and offer specialist advice in all types of clinical negligence and personal injury claims, particularly those involving brain damage and other catastrophic injury. Many of our clients have severe life-changing injuries and we help them to recover compensation to re-build their lives.

The team is one of the largest in London, and has won record-breaking awards for its clients. This, together with our discreet, client-focused approach, has earned us our reputation for excellence.

Our approach

Our holistic approach combines empathy with professionalism. We recognise that dealing with the law can be stressful in itself and we have built our practice on putting clients' interests first, making the legal system work to meet their needs rather than the other way round.

So first, we listen. Then we recommend the best course of action for that particular client and begin gathering evidence, working with the best medical experts, compensation experts and barristers.

We believe that it is very important for you to feel comfortable with your solicitor before you make your decision about who will deal with your claim. We are pleased to offer an hour's free initial advice either over the telephone, or in a face-to-face meeting.

We are also able to offer advice on the long term management of awards of damages including advice on receivership involving the Court of Protection/Public Guardianship Office where a person is not capable of looking after their own affairs. We can establish trust funds where appropriate.

“head and shoulders above the rest”
